

The Valley Forge

a luxurious recreational retreat

Fun Fact
Valley Forge is one of the largest open spaces in southeastern Pennsylvania with 3,500 acres containing habitats for hundreds of plants and animals including 200 species of birds.

The Valley Forge (val-ee fawrj), with its historic landscapes, defines this roof design. The valley roof design gives it that subtle character, just like the terrain in Pennsylvania. The Valley Forge layout gives you that modern cabin living, starting with its clean lines for the exterior. The combination of shakes and ledge stone defines the wall bump outs, and with the steel roof, it keeps the look clean. Moving inside, as you walk into the living room, the open ceilings give the home its cabin feel with exposed cedar beams and planking. The living room paired with the kitchen, gives plenty of room for entertainment with its open concept and large island counter space. A full size bath with its shower spa like experience, allows you to relax and unwind at the end of a busy day. When the day is done, your able to enjoy your master suite with vaulted ceilings to match the living room. A private deck also allows you to extend your master suite outside! Overall the Valley Forge is a modern spin on a rustic, quaint home in the outdoors.
